

COACH BIO

Claire Brummeler

Claire has been playing volleyball since the 6th grade, starting as an outside hitter but also being used as a middle blocker in some situations. Starting her sophomore year in high school, she transitioned to the setter position where she's excelled ever since. After graduating from high school, as well as finishing up a successful career as a player for NAVC, she now plays at Agnes Scott College and is excited about returning to the club as a Coach. She believes that fundamentals and love of the sport can get you as far as you want to go in the sport.
